THE BIG BONANZA MINE.

A Smoking Hole in the Ground Out of Which Mackay Took $150,000,000.I was strolling with Mackay some years ago in Virginia City, when we looked down a smoking cavity in the ground that was soon lost in the darkness, and at the mouth of which a windlass was slowly grinding. "Out of that hole," he said, "I took $150,000,000 in bullion." This was one of the famous Bonanza mines, whose history all men know. The Big Bonanza, as it was called, and as Mackay described it to me at the time, was a "kidney" or a "pocket" of erode ore, about as high as the steeple of Trinity and in area as large as the City Hall park of New York.
This ore, shoveled out and reduced,
gave the stupendous yield to which Mr.
Mackay referred, and was the foundation of the Bonanza fortunes.Associated with him were three other gentlemen, whose names were to win a world-wide mining fame—James G. Fair, afterward senator from Nevada, whose skill as a mining expert had attracted the attention of Mackay; William O'Brien, and James C. Flood. O'Brien and Flood had come to California as friends in the Argonaut days, and had like other men taken their humble parts in the creation of the Pacific states. In those times men who were to be major generals in the army drove drays for a living. Others who were to become luminous in statesmanship and jurisprudence joyfully mended their own trousers and washed their own linen.They were "partners," a term that Bret Harte has pathetically explained in one of his exquisite stories. "Partners," that is to say, friends, with a friendship such as we who live outside of the atmosphere of adventure which informed the Argonaut days cannot understand, and which would be but vaguely explained if we compared it to the love of man and woman."Billy was my partner once," as Mr.
Flood said to me one day in Menlo, while we were looking at the portrait of O'Brien; "Billy was my partner once.
He is my partner now, will be my partner forever"—a speech which made a deep impression, coming as it did from the lips of one of the most resolute, self-restrained and unobtrusive of men.
Flood was the financial representative and the ally of the two young miners who were at work on the Bonanza; O'Brien, the "partner" in the firm, because Flood could have no interest he did not share.O'Brien passed away in Bonanza times—Flood not many months since, in Germany. He was a brave, independent, reserved, conscientious man, especially charming and true in the higher relations of life—no better citizen, no truer friend—"in all that goes toward the true development of mankind, the best man I have ever known," as Mackay said to me when the hour of irrevocable silence had fallen. "I know only one man in the world that can break me, and that is Mackay." This Flood said to me and I note it as showing the strong links which in those days bound the Bonanza firm and gave it a strength and a confidence which were the basis of its power.—John Russell Young in

"Is it," wondered a New York woman just returned from Boston, "because of the use of the sounds of 'a' and 'o' which we are accustomed to associate with cultivated speech that Boston salaried men seem such refined and attractive persons? They seem a race of gentlemen, and it was a positive pleasure to be served by them. I noticed also that their hands and nails were beautifully kept,
and many of them really did wear eyeglasses. As to that, however, I got in two different horse cars whose drivers had a very scholarly look from the same cause, and a sign posted conspicuously on Boston Common read, 'Professor Brown, Artistic Boothblack.' I begin to believe the stories of the culture of the masses in Boston."—New York Times.Character Shown in Thumbs.
There is as much character in the thumbs of people as in their faces. A long first joint of the thumb indicates will power; a long second joint indicates strong logical or reasoning power; a wide, thick thumb indicates strong individuality, while a broad knob at the end of the thumb is a sure indication of obstinacy. The thumb is the characteristic feature of the human hand, a characteristic in which it differs from the hand of the monkey, and of all parts of the hand no one is so strongly individual or telltale as the thumb.—St. Louis other seemingly impossible things with his toes.Careful investigations show that in ordinary flames charged with common salt the yellowness is due to too free metallic sodium and not to the uncomposed molecules of chloride of sodium.Who knows that the time may not yet come when small boys in this country will gobble sunflower seeds at the circus just as they now consume the festive and odoriferous goober?There are people who claim to love the Lord who would apologize to the devil

if they thought they were in his way.

THE SITUATION AT WINNEMUCCA.

Democrats Modify Their Pledge—The Silver Feeling Intensifying.

A very conservative resident of Winnemucca, in a private note to a citizen of this town, says:

"There is no political talk here except in regard to free coinage, and the possibility and probability of a third party. The Democratic County Central Committee modified the pledge adopted by the State Committee for voters at the primaries, so that it reads as follows: 'Are you a Democrat, and will you support the nominees of the Democratic party, provided they are unequivocally in favor of the free coinage of silver?' This is the notice published in the Silver State, and a candidate for President, or any other office for that matter, will have to prove himself very sound on the silver question if he gets any votes out this way. Should the feeling continue as it is now, and I see no reason why it should not, as it grows in intensity daily, I think there will be very curious complications in the field of politics."

THE BANK OF NEVADA.

Annual Meeting of Stockholders and Statement of Its Financial Condition.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Bank of Nevada, the following named Directors were elected for the ensuing year: M. D. Foley, George Russell, Daniel Meyer, C. C. Pownall, J. N. Evans, M. E. Ward and L. A. Abraham. The Directors, at a meeting, elected the following named officers: M. D. Foley, President; M. E. Ward, Vice President; R. S. Osburn, Cashier.

The statement of the financial condition of the bank, published in the JOURNAL, shows it to be in a healthy condition. The amount of its deposits show that it has the confidence of the public, and the amount of its loans proves that it reciprocates and has confidence in the community. The bank is doing a profitable business, almost equal to that of a newspaper, and it paid the stockholders a handsome dividend. All the old Directors and officers were re-elected, showing that the stockholders are satisfied with the management.

Indian Divorce Court.

Monday an Indian divorce court convened at Pyramid Reservation to hear proceedings in the case of Mrs. Naches vs. Chief Naches. Captain Bill and Tom King presided and heard both sides of the question at issue. The Court granted Mrs. Naches a divorce and ordered that Naches pay her $18 in cash and give one crop of hay. Naches says the woman always bothered him and he is willing to pay the amount allowed by the Court. He has another wife left and she has three children attending school at the reservation.

LYON COUNTY SILVER CONVENTION.

A Good Meeting and Much Enthusiasm.

The Lyon County Times has the following proceedings of the Lyon County Silver League:

Last Monday evening, pursuant to a call, the Silver League of Lyon county met in Convention at the Court-house in Dayton and transacted the following business:

S. G. Boston was elected temporary Chairman, and Gen. E. J. Quinn temporary Secretary. The following committees were then appointed:

Committee on Credentials—H. Wood, J. T. Canavan, J. A. Hutton, T. C. Wogan, Wm. Shirley.

Committee on Permanent Organization and Order of Business—W. J. Westerfield, Greely French, J. H. Rae.

Committee on Platforms and Resolutions—F. W. Fairbanks, J. H. Rae, Wm. Shirley.

A recess of fifteen minutes was then taken to allow committees time to report. Upon re-assembling the report of Committee on Organization was read and adopted, making Chairman and Secretary permanent officers.

The report of Committee on Credentials was read and adopted. It found the following named persons entitled to seats in the convention:

Silver City—Thos. Mayne, J. T. Canavan, Greely French, P. Quinn, Charles Hamilton, C. Wogan, S. G. Boston.

Dayton—P. Barnett, J. A. Hutton, F. W. Fairbanks, G. E. Jaque, J. H. Rae Jr., W. J. Westerfield, W. J. Byrom, E. T. Reynolds, William Shirley, W. W. Coffin, G. P. Randall, W. A. Donnelly.

Mound House—D. Reagan, F. A. Tensland.

Mason Valley—Henry Wood.

Wabaska—W. G. Harris.

The report of Committee on Resolutions was read and adopted. The resolutions favored the payment of all debts, public and private, with lawful money of the U. S., and depreciated the practice of specifying gold as the medium of exchange. Also earnestly requested the delegates to the State Conventions of both the great parties to pledge the delegates to the National Conventions to support no Presidential candidate who is not on record as an out and out free coinage man, and in case that none such can be nominated, to withdraw from the conventions.

The following Central Committee was elected:

Dayton—J. R. Shaw, E. T. Reynolds, G. W. Bennett.

Mason Valley—J. S. Craig, B. H. Reynolds, J. G. Young.

Smith Valley—D. C. Simpson.

Saturo and Churobill—Jas. Newman.

Silver City—Thos. Mayne, C. T. Wogan.

The following committee was appointed to solicit signatures to the League:

Albert Campbell, Jule Dreyfuss, Henry Wood, Frank Downey, E. B. Elder, Frank Rivers, A. J. Newman, Geo. Adams, E. T. Regan, F. A. Tensland, P. Quinn, T. Mayne.

Delegates to a State Convention were then elected as follows:

Dayton—J. E. Gignoux, F. W. Fairbanks.

Silver City—S. G. Boston, J. T. Canavan.

The selection of delegates from other precincts was left to the Central Committee. No date was set or place selected for holding a State Convention as it was thought best to confer with other leagues on the subject.

The Convention then adjourned.

THE ELECTION LAWS.

Useful Information for Voters.

The pamphlet prepared by Secretary of State Grey contains the following admonitions:

Before election read the law.

Secure a sample ballot before going to the polls.

Decide for whom you will vote before going into the booth.

Obtain your ballots from one of the clerks of the election.

You will be allowed five minutes in which to prepare your ballot.

Make a cross, thus (x) after the name for which you vote.

The cross must be made only with a lead pencil.

Any other writing or marking will invalidate your vote.

Fold your ballot before leaving the booth.

See that the water mark and the number are on the outside.

Deliver your ballot folded to the Inspector and give your name.

Only one voter can occupy a booth at one time.

A voter physically disabled may have the assistance of another elector in preparing his ballot.

Inability to read or write will not be considered a physical disability.

By remembering the information and being guided by the instructions contained in the foregoing, anyone will be enabled to vote intelligently and without danger of being counted out.

Will Carleton.

It is probable that a large crowd will be in attendance at the Baptist Church this evening to listen to Carleton, the famous American poet. It is an opportunity that no person ought willingly to miss, and it should be a matter of local pride to greet the author of some of the tenderest ballads in the English tongue with an audience worthy of his great fame.

Live Leisurely.

Is good advice, but live carefully is better. In both cases Simmons Liver Regulator will help you live best. It keeps the liver active, the bowels regular, and helps throw off the poison in the system which causes Malaria and Rheumatism. The Regulator also promotes digestion, and never fails to relieve the most severe cases of Dyspepsia, Constipation and Biliousness.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

"GAG LAW"

The statement has been industriously circulated and reiterated in the Gazette of last evening that "gag law" was applied at the silver meeting at the Court-room Tuesday evening. Of the fifty odd persons who signed the roll of membership of the Washoe County Silver League on that occasion the Gazette or any person who wishes to take up the gauntlet, is challenged to produce one who will venture the assertion that "gag law" was used; but the few who refused all invitations to become members; whose every act at least bore the outward appearance that they had no desire nor intention of affiliating with the League, and whose frantic endeavors to run a meeting that, by their own choice, they had no concern in were thwarted, are the ones who are howling "gag law."

The Gazette quotes Judge Boardman as saying: "I am willing to sign the roll to form a Silver League, but I object to signing any obligation before I know what its platform is." It is perfectly evident to any intelligent human being and was doubtless so to Judge Boardman, that an organization before it existed could not have a "platform," or anything else. There was nothing committal in the heading of the membership roll which Judge Boardman and Mr. Jones, as well, were asked to sign. And, at the same time, it was reasonably in the province of the Chairmen, when filibustering tactics were resorted to as evidenced by parties refusing to cease speaking when called to order, to declare that the meeting was in the hands of those who had signed the roll of membership. The so-called "gag law" was the refusal of the members of the League to allow their business to be run by outsiders.

SILVER.

To Whom It May Concern.

Action has been taken on the part of many, and particularly on the part of Mrs. W. D. Hardin of Steamboat, who have friends laid away in the cemetery at Washoe City to place the grounds in a better condition than they are now in. Many graves are in such form that it is impossible to properly locate them. Those having relatives or friends buried in the grounds are requested to meet at the cemetery on May 10th next at 10 o'clock in the forenoon for the purpose of giving such aid and information as they can give in the matter of properly locating the graves of departed friends. By request,

WILLIAM WEBSTER.

An Officer's Tragic Death.

A lieutenant of the Twenty-fourth regiment of Chasseurs, named Turverne, met with a most tragic death near the port of Nice yesterday. His horse, a big, fiery roan, which had been very little ridden, became restive shortly after leaving headquarters. While passing the well known Chateau Smith the horse took fright and bolted down an incline. Some patrol officers saw this, but were unable to arrest his progress. The officer managed to steer the animal around the corner of the building, but coming to a rapid curve in the road at a spot known as Raban Capen he lost all control. The horse rushed madly at a wall, cleared it, and both horse and rider were dashed over the rocks into the sea below.

The admiral of the Mediterranean squadron sent a steam launch, four boats and fifty men with grapplings to try and find the bodies. They found a key on the rocks, which has been identified as that of the officer's chamber in the barracks, and some hair of the horse stuck to the rocks. Up to the present, however, the bodies have not been recovered. They have probably been taken out to sea by currents. M. De Freycinet, who is now in Nice, visited the spot to make inquiries. The unfortunate officer, who was only thirty years of age, was most popular.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Run with a Wild Wolf.

A party of fox hunters around Cleveland, deciding that "reynard" was too tame to follow longer, liberated a wild mountain wolf from Kansas. By the time the fierce animal had bitten off a finger of one hunter, torn holes in the boots of three or four more, killed two dogs and severely wounded several others, the fox hunters, after killing him, decided they had enough of that kind of sport.—Exchange.

Why Dr. Price's Baking Powder is Superior to all others.

No great efforts are made by other manufacturers to procure and use pure materials.

It is true that one other company has the facilities, but its greed and cupidity induced it in an evil hour to use ammonia, in order to swell its profits. Hence the Price Baking Powder Company stands alone in its fight for a pure baking powder.

No other article of human food receives greater care in its production, or has attained higher perfection. Dr. Price's Cream is surely a perfect baking powder. Free from every taint of impurity. No other article used in the kitchen has so many steadfast friends among the housewives of America.

WHAT IS WINTERILLA?

Why, it is a pleasant and effective remedy for the positive cure of Chapped Hands, Poison Oak, Salt Rheum, Eczema, Sun Burn, Tan; positively removes freckles, and is one of the grandest luxuries for gentlemen after shaving. This is an exquisite article prepared with the greatest care by scientific experts. Its component parts are perfectly harmless, and the ladies toilet is not complete without it. One trial will convince the most skeptical that what we say of WINTERILLA is true. For sale by all druggists in 25c and 50c bottles.

PITILESS PARENTS.

CHILDREN MALTREATED BY CRUEL MOTHERS AND FATHERS.

Some Horrible Instruments of Torture.

Cases of a Startling Nature Brought to Light by the Pennsylvania Society for the Protection of Children.

It hardly seems possible that a man with the figure of an athlete and the strength of a Samson would deliberately strike a child of six years full in the face with all the force of his brawny fist, and as if to make it further deplorable, the poor, defenseless little creature, his own offspring. But such brutes exist, and this case is considered a mild one in the annals of pitiless deeds that come under the notice of the Pennsylvania Society for the Protection of Children from Brutality.

At the society's new home Mr. Crew, the enthusiastic secretary and prime mover in all the good work done, in a conversation yesterday unfolded experiences such as would appear to belong to the times when torture was a recognized mode of punishment for old and young. Some of the cases would put to blush some of the most cruel practices of those idyllic days, and yet they are occurring daily here in Philadelphia, and the victims one and all are children. To the parents who regard the treasures in their homes as the most priceless boon that heaven ever bestowed, and whose every thought is for the care and comfort of their little ones, this society peculiarly appeals.

How a mother's heart will bleed if through accident or disease a little son or daughter must endure the pangs of suffering, and if punishment must be inflicted it falls more heavily on the parents than on the little offenders. Yet here are mothers, and fathers, too, who somehow seem to have been given the children, but the love that comes with the first weak cry has never found a place in their hearts. To them they are a burden, a constant source of annoyance, and only fit to slave and toil, and as their reward receive cuffs and kicks, and scars and bruises.

A CHAMBER OF HORRORS. In their new building the society has secured a long felt want. Supplied with very convenience and many comforts it must appear a veritable haven of refuge to the little waifs that are rescued from the streets or out of the clutches of the human monsters they call father and mother.

In a room set apart for the purpose is a collection of straps, whips, bludgeons, whips and chains, an assortment worthy of a chamber of horrors, yet each one has been taken from the hands of some tend in human form, and bears a history that seems almost incredible in this city of homes. A heavy chain, thirty inches long and weighing from four to six pounds, with links strong enough to secure some of the most vicious of the crowd the neck of a frail little boy, whose case had been reported to the society by outsiders, who heard the child's cries at the torture inflicted.

This little sister, frightened at the terrible punishment, attempted to escape by crawling under the table. The inhuman father ceased from beating the boy and turned his attention to the little girl. He dragged her out by the arm, then holding her by the ankles he humped her head up and down on the floor until the child became unconscious. When the officers of the society arrived at the house it was discovered that the child's wrists and ankles were broken and she had to be at once removed to the hospital.

AN INHUMAN MOTHER. Another case in which a woman and another figures is one of the most heartless instances on record. A long, cruel knife elicited the history, and for cool, hard hearted indifference it has no equal. A woman with her three children, living in one of the worst sections of town, revealed in all sorts of vice and wickedness and regarded her little ones as obstacles standing in her way. If a very excitable and ungovernable disposition at all times, she was, when under the influence of drink, a veritable fury, and had frequently beaten them with heavy clubs, bludgeons of wood with protruding nails, and, in fact, anything she could lay her hands on, until their bodies and faces were in the most fearful condition.

Not content with this, she turned them out in the streets on bitter winter's day insufficiently clad, and too terror-stricken to attempt to return. Neighbors saw them and warned her that unless she speedily gave them shelter complaint would be made against her. Owing to this threat she took them in, but only to vent redoubled fury on the already half-dead children. The trials of his lot and exhausted by lack of food and ill treatment, fell into a sleep only to be rudely awakened by heavy blows because he breathed too loud. The final act which brought her before the magistracy was that of stabbing her little girl because she asked for a piece of sugar.

On being brought up for examination she expressed no regret for what she had done, but said she hoped the child would die, as it would only take fifteen dollars to bury her, and she would be through with "the brat."—Philadelphia Times.

How a Hindoo Uses Clocks.

The Hindoo places a clock in his show-room, not because he ever desires to know what the hour is, but because a clock is a foreign curiosity. Instead, therefore, of contenting himself with one good clock, he will perhaps have a dozen in one room. They are signs of his wealth, but they do not add to his comfort, for he is so indolent to time that he measures it by the number of bamboo lengths the sun has traveled above the horizon.—Temple Bar.

Women's Ways.

Women have their own ways of keeping their consciences clear and their minds freed from all uncharitableness. One woman when she encounters a disagreeable person goes off into a corner and counts off on her fingers the agreeable people she knows. This she does not in effect, but literally as she might tell her beads, and she keeps on doing it until the image of the disagreeable one is effaced.

Another woman in the presence of an unusually annoying circumstance was observed to unhook and rehook her gown. The rehooking miscarried several times to her great impatience. She was asked why then had she unhooked it. Her answer was that hooks and eyes were the most disagreeable things ever invented. One always began to hook them in the middle, and the chances were ten to one that you linked the wrong pair. But this you did not know until you were half through and one side came out ahead. So with that, and the strain upon your fingers, you were naturally exasperated, and as they were only hooks and eyes it didn't much matter what you said. With the chance to free your mind other disagreeable things seemed almost pleasant.

It will be observed that it occurred to neither of these women, who were both religious, to fall on their knees and ask in the old fashioned way to be delivered from anger and ill feeling. This was not because they distrusted the efficacy of this method, but simply because they hadn't at the moment, and seldom had, the time or place. Also, both being scientific minded the one knew that in thought as in physics two things cannot occupy the same space at the same time, and so paid out one thought with another; while the other, by simply transmuting her angry force from an incorporeal offense to hooks and eyes, had the relief of its expenditure without its sin.—New York Evening Sun.

Such a Romantic Affair.

She was a convalescent from la grippe, and as she leaned back in the depths of her easy chair she played with the roses in her lap, which had been brought her by the first caller she had been able to receive, and smiled over some stories he was telling her of a summer at—well, we'll only say at a certain fashionable watering place on Narragansett bay. "One of the beauties whom I used to see at the casino," said he, "was a young married belle about twenty-three or four, I should think, and her husband was about sixty, and it was great fun watching them. There was such a good story, bona fide truth it was, too, about their engagement. He called at her home one evening and offered his heart, hand and fortune in correct style. Pretty Miss Bud said she must ask mamma, and cooly tripped up stairs to mamma, who told her that every girl did not get such a chance as that, and of course she was to accept him.

"Down she went, picturing the ardent lover awaiting her return with anxious throbbing heart and found the old gentleman comfortably asleep in the biggest armchair, while an occasional snore attested to the depth of his slumbers." "I hope she didn't wake the poor old thing up," said the convalescent, when she got her breath again after her laugh. "Oh, yes she did. Catch her losing that chance! She woke him up and told him it was all right and she'd have him."—Boston Saturday Gazette.

Thackeray's Realism.

Thackeray is verily as great a realist as a great artist can be. He prides himself on presenting life as it is, unseasoned by the hot spices of artificial romance. Nay, he employs devices to entrap the credulity of the reader—the device, for example, of making Arthur Pendennis, whom we know independently, tell the story of his young friend Clive Newcome, and the noble, meek hearted gentleman with whom he had seen the boy at the Cave of Harmony. Yes, Thackeray is a great realist, if ever there was one. His characters are no decorative figments to amuse our fancy. They have become some of the men and women we know best—personal friends or foes of our own. It consoles us for living in these late days of a reformed parliament that we have lived late enough to have known Colonel Newcome. They were no tears of unreal sentiment that we wept over his martyrdom; it was a very genuine itch we felt to kick Barnes.—Blackwood's Magazine.

The Necessity of the Times.

Inventive faculty will not have reached high tide until some one perfects an envelope flap warranted to stick. One of the considerable discomforts of life takes the form of a non-adhesive mucilage that allows the envelope upon which it is placed to peel open again and again as it is pressed down, until in a fine frenzy the letter writer is driven hither and yon for real mucilage. And the finer the quality of the stationery the more trials lie in the wake of the envelope.

If they are trusted to the mails without an extra dab of mucilage, they may be depended upon to arrive at their destination invitingly open—or accessible to the sneaking individual, who in spite of our civilization does exist, who is capable of going against all written and unwritten laws and tampering with a seal. A padlocked envelope is one of the necessities of the times.—Boston Commonwealth.

Don't read! Don't think! Don't believe! Now, are you better? You women who think that patent medicines are a bumbaz, and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the biggest humbug of the whole (because it's best known of all)—does your lack-of-faith ever come?

It is very easy to "don't" in this world. Suspicion always comes more easily than confidence. But doubt—little faith—never made a sick woman well—and the "Favorite Prescription" has cured thousands of delicate, weak women, which makes us think that our "Prescription" is better than your "don't believe." We're both honest. Let us come together. You try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. If it doesn't do as represented, you get your money again.

The Modern "Man in Our Town."

The modern counterpart of the man who recovered his lost eyes by a second jump into a bramble bush is found in the person of A. A. Hubbard of St. Louis, Mo. The other day Hubbard dislocated his shoulder by falling from an ox cart, and while on the way to a neighboring lawyer's his horse twitched the sleigh in some way so that the shoulder was forced back in its original position.—New York Sun.

Measuring High Temperatures. A Frenchman has recently made some experiments with the idea of measuring high temperatures by determining the intensity of the radiations emitted by a thermometer of platinum or clay or other material when compared with the light of a standard lamp. The results indicate that the method is an excellent one.—New York Times.
